

Norwich, NY

IV

Dec. 16, 1811

Chenango Weekly Advertiser
Feb. 6, 1812

Several severe shocks of an earthquake were felt in various parts of the southern and western states, about the middle of the month of December. From the statements in the various papers we have collected the following. It has been observed that a slight shock was felt in this city. The agitation of the earth was such as to cause the vibration of watches in the watch-makers window - and a kettle with water hanging in the fireplace, vibrate sufficiently to cause the overflowing of the water.