

Salem, NC

V(08:15)
F(14:15)

Dec. 16, 1811

Vol. VII, 1809-1822
Records of the Moravians in North Carolina
Raleigh, North Carolina

Salem Diary, 1811, page 3139.

In the third hour of the morning there was a fairly strong earthquake shock, which was repeated in the eight hour, but much less severely.

Bethabara Diary, page 3156

Between two and three o'clock this morning an earthquake was felt in our town and in the neighborhood. Many of our members were awakened, and in the church and parsonage the doors rattled suddenly and waked us.

Bethabara Diary, page 3160

In the third hour of the morning we felt an earthquake, and in the eight hour another, though less severe.